OPSO

Designed by Richard Jones for Gresham

Richard Jones is a freelance furniture designer based in Cheltenham, Gloucestershire. Richard established his design studio in 2018 working on a diverse mix of project briefs from one-off bespoke pieces to products designed for mass production. Richard adopts a hands on approach and feels this is the most effective way of understanding a materials capabilities. He strives to create a pared back, understated appearance and enjoys telling a story with as few visual elements as possible. Creating an emotional connection between the object and user. His products are not a passing sensation but aim to create a lasting impression that stand the test of time. Richard's designs are brand driven, He listens, analyse and responds to the client's unique requirements in an imaginative manner to create products that are engaging and evocative. Richard prides himself on not developing a signature style but more concerned with fulfilling the customer's expectations.
